

York Minster is preparing to mark Advent and Christmas with a range of beautiful breath-taking services and seasonal concerts for all the family.

From moments of quiet reflection to some of the cathedral's most popular events of the year - the Minster's special services, festive events, traditions and seasonal music celebrate the season's themes of anticipation, hope and joy.

Advent starts on Sunday 27 November and will be marked by York Minster's spectacular Advent Procession service which begins with the cathedral in complete darkness gradually illuminated by candlelight.

Other service highlights during Christmas Week will include Nine Lessons and Carols on 22 and 24 December and the Crib Service (24 December). The Archbishop of York, Stephen Cottrell, will preside at the Eucharist of Christmas Day at 11am on 25 December.

Free tickets will need to be booked in advance for some highlight services, with tickets released during November and December (see full details below).

The cathedral's popular, annual Christmas Carol Concerts will return on 8 and 9 December and special screenings of family-favourite The Snowman, accompanied by a live orchestra, will take place on Saturday 10 December presented by Carrot Productions.

The second year of the York Minster Christmas Tree Festival will be staged inside the cathedral's stunning Chapter House and Lady Chapel.

Around 40 trees will be on display decorated to individual themes by local businesses, schools and charities. Visitors will be able to add their own Christmas message to a tag on the festival's prayer trees. The first day of the festival (3 December), will be marked at 10am with a special session of Saturday Mornings at York Minster for children and families to celebrate the Christmas trees with craft activities and a short service.

Join Gabrieli Roar for 'In Dulci Jubilo' on Saturday 3 December, a Christmastide treat featuring the spectacular polychoral music of Michael Praetorius in belated celebration of the 400th anniversary of the great composer's death. With a choir of young singers performing alongside Gabrieli's world-class musicians, audiences and singers alike are sure to delight in this most exciting and flamboyant music of the early baroque.

On Saturday 17 December the Chapter House Choir will perform Carols by Candlelight. They will be joined by the Chapter House Youth Choir and there will be festive music performed by the Handbell Ringers of the Chapter House Choir.

The Acting Dean of York, The Revd Michael Smith, said: "Advent and Christmas lie at the heart of the Christian faith. It marks the start of the Church year and it is a time of reflection and anticipation as we prepare for the birth of Christ which we celebrate on Christmas Day. After a challenging and difficult year, the Christmas message of joy and hope will provide comfort for many.

“This year we will all be remembering the Christmas messages the late Queen used to share with us each year. In those messages she often spoke of her faith and reminded us that Christmas is all about Jesus who reveals how we can live life to the full and find hope even in times of darkness. As we remember her messages from the past we surround our new King with our love and prayers as his reign begins.

“There will be a very warm welcome for everyone visiting York Minster this Advent and Christmas whether in person or online for our livestream worship throughout the season.”

York Minster will be open for sightseeing throughout November and December but may need to close from time to time for services and events – please check the website for opening times and to book admission tickets.

The Minster Shops inside the cathedral and at 9 Minster Gates will also be open daily offering a range of bespoke gifts inspired by the cathedral alongside seasonal items including nativity sets and advent calendars and candles.

Her name and story reached Sweden along with Christianity, and she remained popular even after the Reformation as the bringer of light during the long darkness of winter.
